CHESS MATCH A DRAW.

FIVE POINTS BACH FOR AMERICA AND GREAT BRITAIN IN CABLE PLAY.

sbury Defeats Blackburne for the First Time in These Contests-Hymes and Newman Are the Other Winners for This Side Marshall Loses to Ward by a Blunder. After two days of the hardest kind of fighting ever seen in any of the international cable hess matches for the Newnes trophy, the eixth of the series ended at 8 o'clock last evening, with the honors even, both teams saving scored five points. At that time four of the opposing pairs were struggling away. Pillsbury and Newman had won for America and Showalter and Marshall had ost, while Voigt and Bampton had drawn. When time was called there was another victory and one more defeat in sight, inasmuch as Hymes had two pawns to the good gainst Atkins and Howell was at Mitchell's nercy. The other two games, between Barry and Lee and Hodges and Mills, were even. A consultation was held on the platform between the players and the Brooklyn

the pending match should result in a win for America and the capture of the Newnes cup, he was authorized to make the offer of a he was authorized to make the offer of a $1,000 trophy on behalf of Col. W. V. Hester, to be known as the Hester Cup, for a similar series of matches by cable.

In the contest between Mason and Showalter, the latter acquitted himself in capital etyle on the first day, and when hostilities were resumed yesterday he was thought to have at least an even game, with fair prospects of making an impression on the Englishman's position. Naturally it came as a great shock to the many admirers of the popular Kentuckian when at 12:45 o' lock he was forced to capitulate as the result of a pretty sacrifice brought about by the Englishman.

game was finished. it being the hardest fought of the series. The contestants were Bampsulted in a draw after an up-and-down sort of a game in which the Englishman had to fight hard to avert serious consequences.

A great disappointment to chess players across the Bridge was the collapse of Marshall, the former chambion of the Brooklyn Club and the present Sulta champion of the world starting out in the morning with a pawn to the good and a favorable position, Marshall actually threw his game away by a blunder, costing him a piece.

Fifteen minutes later, the crowd, which had assumed its usually large proportions, received an opportunity to become dame.

Princeton University boys were to have played a team match yesterday with the Richmond County Country Club at Dongan Hills, Staten Island, but the unfavorable weather caused a postponement. All the men were present and Douglas Bonner of Princeton and O. L. Williams of the home club, went out and played an eighteen-hole match despite the rain. Bonner proved the victor by 1 up. The others, however, came to the conclusion that their health was worth more to them than the game.

The first round of a match play handicap competition was decided yesterday at the Westchester Golf Club links. The result was

R. L. Redfield beat E. E. Foley, by 7 up and 6 to 2 to play; D. Smyth beat J. J. Deane, by 2 up and 1 to play; Alexander Stevens beat R. A. Menks, by 6 up and 5 to play. Those who drew byes were: W. A. Burke, John C. Graham, W. A. Ansley, A. W. Craigle, T. C. Ennover, R. Hickox, F. R. Keeler. Alexander Moffat, M. R. Palmer, P. B. Wesson, F. T. Van Loan and J. R. Bryce.

Club links June 18 to 25.

The twelve clubs that entered teams have been divided into classes A and B. Those in class A will compete for the championship and those in class B for a consolation cup. The Nassau system of scoring has been adopted, one point bein gallowed the player who is up on the first nine holes, one point for the second nine holes and one point for the match, so that under the most favorable circumstances no player can make more than three points in a match. The season in both classes will open May 28 and close Nov 8. The first match in class A will be between Essex County and Morris County at Morristown, and in class B between Powelton and Richmond County, at Dongan Hills, Staten Island. The schedule follows:

The Scotts and a few others played in the morning before the rain began, but they did not turn in any cards.

STAMPORD. April 20—The golf season has practically opened at both the Wee Burn and the Hill and Dale golf clubs. For the past week or more the devotees of the game have been visible on the links of both clubs. The season of scheduled play will not begin, however, for a few weeks. Schedules for the spring and early summer season are being formulated now and will be announced shortly. Both links have been much improved and are in excellent shape.

BAYSIDE, April 20 — Materially strengthened by the playing of Flindiay S. Douglass, the Nassan County Club defeated the Uasiland Golf Club team to-day by 22 holes to 1. To-day was the formal opening of the Oakland links, the recent interscholastic tournament not being a club affair. The few enthusiasts present who wanted to see good golf in face of the driving rain followed the Douglass-Rossiter match over the wet links. B. Wilmerding, the last of the Oakland players to return cards, saved his side from being whitewashed. He was opposed to H. F. Whitney and all was even at the seventeenth hole. By winning the eighteenth the Oakland player was ahead by a single hole. Summary:

FAST BASKETBALL BY GIRLS. Ceachers' College Team Ends Its Season by Defeating Bryn Mawr.

The last basketball game of the year for the girls from Teachers' College was played yesterday. A team of Bryn Mawr alumne were their opponents, and prospective teachers smothered them by a score of 36 to 10. The Bryn Mawr girls were yellow collar and short skirts over their bloomers, while tirely. The game itself, as the girls declared, was the nearest thing to a football match that they had ever attempted. The gymnasium, which will be torn up next week, was crowded with men and women and they gave full vent to their enthusiasm when Miss Grace Jenkins scored the first goal for Teachers' College just one minute after play began. Miss Ida Kydd came in for her share of ap-It rained continuously throughout the whole time, thus greatly handicapping the men and preventing any very remarkable time from being made. The track, soaked through and through by the rains, was very heavy. The whole list of events, with the exception of the pole vault, was run off. This latter had to be called off.

The best time made in any event was that made by Edwin Jesse Clapp, an academic freshman, who did the 22-yard hurdles in which took the Blue and White girls unawares Miss Boorman and Miss Elebeth Kroeber tailled four times in succession. Three free shots were also allowed to them on fouls and things began to look interesting. But the tide turned again and the Teachers' College score was 20 to 8 for their opponents when the first half closed.

Ten minutes was allowed for resting, and when the first half closed.

Ten minutes was allowed for resting, and when the teams lined up again it was seen that their ranks were somewhat depleted, the play beginning with four on a side. Miss Laura Berry, ex-captain of the Teachers' College team, replaced Miss Marion Henderson at right guard and Miss Grace Jenkins of Teachers' College and Miss Ouff of Bryn Mawr had retired to the side lines, where positions as cheering leaders awaited them. Misses Kydd and Berry quickly scored and Miss Kroeber made the last two goals for Bryn Mawr, throwing the ball over her head. Hard fighting now ensued and twicet ime was called as the referee pulled three or more of the contestants from the floor and extricated the ball, which was burled underneath them. Mrs. Lawrence, the umpire, suggested that there be less scrimmaging and more open play. This advice was followed and the superior nimbleness of the Columbia girls soon began to assert itself. For the last ten minutes they scored almost at will. Miss Kydd and Miss Berry scored four times each, the final score being 36 to 12 in favor of Teachers' College. Summary:

What object was there in dosing the sponge? the doctor was asked.

The only reason I can see was that he was a dangerous man, and some one wanted to get him out of the race. I think the canteen of the soldier bicycle rider must have been tampered with at Ashland, and the drug inserted there."

A rejorter talked with McDonald at his home. He said:

"It was an awful dose. I am sure that there was something in the sponge used which affected me and put me out of the face. I remember crossing the twenty-mile line, and then I became unconscious.
